THE PASSIVE VOICE

RAPPEL GRAMMATICAL :

Le passif peut apparaître dans cinq structures en anglais, alors qu'en français, on ne peut le trouver que dans l'équivalent des deux premières.

I. Passif simple : to be + participe passé (complément d'agent introduit par "by")

Exemple: Hamlet was written by Shakespeare.

II. Passif avec modal : modal + be + participe passé

Exemple: The T.V. set must be repaired.

III. Passif progressif (ou continu) : to be + being + participe passé

Exemple: A new school is being built.

IV. Passif avec pré ou post-position : to be + participe passé + pré / post-position

Exemple: She was often laughed at.

V. Passif "anglais" ou "double passif" :

Le sujet du passif est une personne qui serait un complément d'attribution (ou complément d'objet second) dans la phrase équivalente à la voix active.

Exemple: He was promised a prize.

A prize was promised to him.
