I remember the first time I saw a blue whale. Look! Wow… I followed them since childhood. What do you think it's from? Is it from a plastic ship? We were in what we thought was a relatively pristine environment. I started to wonder what was happening in oceans elsewhere on the planet.

Growing up my world was the ocean. It's where I feel the most spiritual. As a free diver, it was the place where I proved myself to myself. Finally, have the opportunity to pay the sea back!

Only a fraction of the plastic that we produce is recycled. This is never gonna degrade: it's got nowhere to go! It was something that these animals were forced to endure because it was man-made; we put it into their environment. The record is 276 pieces of plastic inside of one ninety-day old chick. If the plastics are in the food chain for the dolphin, they're also in our food chain. Exactly…

Communities are built on these landfill sites. So, sweet potatoes, corn, sugar cane… All growing on forty years of garbage! Do you have anything not wrapped in plastic? No! …/… No!

We have to make our life better for our kids' children. Change is possible. It starts with us.
